This action is responsive to the decision on petition of May 7, 2007.

The text of those sections of Title 35, U.S. Code not included in this action can be found in a prior Office action.

The following is a quotation of the second paragraph of 35 U.S.C. 112:

The specification shall conclude with one or more claims particularly pointing out and distinctly claiming the subject matter which the applicant regards as his invention.

Claims 1-9 and 15-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 112, second paragraph, as being indefinite for failing to particularly point out and distinctly claim the subject matter which applicant regards as the invention.

It is unclear if the first two lines of section c of claim 1 mean that the board has an aperture on it or the sensor has an aperture on it. Section c later recites "said sensing aperture in said board communicates with said pressure sensing port" but paragraph 2 of the remarks argue the reference does not show a "pressure sensor that has a sensing aperture disposed over a pressure sensing port". Claim 15 is similarly confused, and further suffers from a lack of antecedent bases for "said board" in line 11.

Applicant is requested to point to support in the original specification for amendatory claim language, since the drawings do not show any details of the alleged aperture.

Claims 1-20 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by DE '843, which corresponds to US 6,814,247.

DE '843 shows a valve system with solenoid valves and pressure sensors 8 mounted with a circuit board 37 and sealed with an o-ring 13.

Applicant's arguments have been fully considered but are not deemed to be persuasive. Applicant argues that because solenoids 12 are remote from the pressure sensors that the reference does not anticipate. But the claims recite a valve body with an inlet and outlet, solenoid valves and pressure sensors on a circuit board. DE '843 discloses that housing member 4 is a valve block, see column 4, lines 7-8 of US '247, which fully meets the recitation of a valve body. Block 4 has an inlet, outlet, pressure sensing port in communication with the outlet, electromagnetic valve, a pressure sensor in fluid communication with the sensing port and a circuit board associated with the sensor. The circuit board is shown with an aperture for the pressure sensor, and it is inherent that the sensors include an aperture in that the sensor mechanism must be exposed to the fluid in order to register its pressure.

It is noted that claims 10-14 do not recite an aperture and applicant's arguments are moot regarding these claims.

THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.
